The banks now hold $65,820,825 in excess of the requirements of the 25 per cent. rule. Total sales of stocks were 82,983 shares, including: American Sugar, 34,400; Atchison, 2,100; Chicago Gas, 8,300; Burlington, 1,300; Distillers, 1,900; Louisville & Nashville, 5,-700; Northern Pacific preferred, 3,400; Reading, 1,300; Rock Island, 2,000; St. Paul, 4,-800; Western Union, 4,200.

Trading on the Stock Exchange was light

during the two hours Saturday, Sugar being the only stock which displayed anything like activity, and the dealings therein were less than the usual volume. A raid was made on Sugar at the opening, which forced the price down 1%, to 102%, which is just 10 per cent. below the figures current a week ago, and 111/2 per cent. below the highest point reached recently, the stock having sold up to 114% on Aug. 21. There was nothing new in the situation affecting the sugar interests which developed that would account for the decline, and it can only be ascribed to the manipulations of the clique. There was a full rea reaction of 1/2 per cent., which represents the loss on the day. Chicago Gas was the only other share in which the transactions exceeded 5,000 shares. It recorded a decline of 1% per cent., with a final recovery of %. Northern Pacific preferred rose 2 per cent. on foreign buying and sales to cover short contracts. It is said there is a very large outstanding short interest in this stock, to which fact is as-cribed its strength. Louisville & New Albany broke from 29% to 28 on one sale of a hundred shares. In the rest of the list the trading was insignificant, but the changes made were in the direction of higher figures. On the week the movement was irregular, but in the main the tendency was in the direction of lower values. The principal changes are: Declines-Sugar, 9 per cent.; Cordage preferred, 6; Cordage common, 3½; Rock Island, 3%; Lead preferred, 3; National Starch first preferred, Manhattan, Consolidated Gas, Chi-cago & Eastern Illinois and Tobacco, 2. in Wall street last week, says: "As might have been expected, the Wallstreet markets have during the past week shown a partial reaction from the advance and the activity immediately following the settlement of the tariff question. It was natural that an advance, after such a long period of duliness, should be followed by sales to realize profits. A luxury so long out of reach was seized with prompt avidity; and the consequent decline in prices has been encouraged by bear sales. One fact, however, deserves to be noted as a symptom of the market. The realizing has been mostly by the smaller class of operators, who had bought for a turn upon the prospect of the passage of the tariff bill. The large holders, who have been carrying big lines of stocks, bought around panic times and held ever since, have as yet sold very few stocks. They appear to be of the opinion that the real advance is not to be expected upon the transient sensational effect of the first settlement of this question, but upon the later effects, arising from the outworkings of the readjustments and the general expasion of business. The starting up of manufacturing and merchanting now apparent on every hand is with them, a reason for expecting a permanent revival of confidence, an increase in the earnings of railroads and improving dividends upon corporate capital generally. That the capitalist holders consider to be the true time for realizing; and, with money still abundant and cheap, they see no reason for parting with property which a few weeks or months hence is likely to be worth much more than it would bring upon large sales to-day. Another motive influencing this class to cling to their holdings is the fact that, owing to the large amount of stock held stagnant through receiverships, this is, and for some time must remain, a comparatively narrow market, not best calculated to draw into Wall street a large outside interest. The practical significance of this factor is that, until a considerably higher range of prices is reached, the market is likely to be sus-

WEEKLY FINANCIAL REVIEW.

Henry Clews, in his review of operations stocks and by the countenance of a very "The crop reports show improving prospects for the railroads. The latest estinates indicate a probability of fully 500,-000,000 bushels of wheat. Up to the 20th of August, the crop of corn was estimated at about 1,500,000,000 bushels; but later weather conditions have encouraged the hope that the yield may prove to be close upon an average. So far as respects trans-portation interets, the increase in wheat, amounting to something near 100,000,000 bushels, will probably quite offset any possible falling off in corn; for, relatively, a tained by comparatively light offerings of

RAIDED BY THE CLIQUE | the wheat crop is subject to long hauls; and the large increase in the latter crop will have to travel from West to East for export. It therefore would not be surprising if the earnings of the railroads out of this year's crops quite equal those of average years. So far as the crops affect the farming interest and its ability to purchase supplies at the East, the chances are much better than they were earlier in the season. If the price of wheat is low, yet its yield is now estimated at 25 per cent. greater than last year's; and, for any reduction, of say 10 per cent., in the crop of corn, there is, at present, the compensation of an advance over last year's prices of the same date of fully 30 per cent. The farmers' prospects may therefore be reckoned as fully up to the average of late years; which, after all, did not prevent the agricultural sections from suffering much less than any other under the trials of last

"The reports on the world's crops made at the Vienna fair are here generally regarded as materially underestimating the probable output. The opinion gains ground that the aggregate supply of wheat from all sources will turn out to be the largest in the world's history. Should this prove to be the case, it will afford a valuable help towards the abatment of political discontent and the recovery of depressed industry among the European nations. In England, Germany, France, Belgium, etc., the recovery of trade comes slowly. Large expectations (in England especially) have been built upon the adoption of a lower tariff in this country. It remains to be seen how far the event will justify that hope; but it will, at least for the present, Circulation, increase...... 28,100 give a stimulus to European industries, and that may possibly suffice to break up the prevailing stagnancy and start old world commerce upon a fresh era of "The enactment of the new tariff has had less effect upon the English market for our securities than had been expected Like our own market, London had bought moderately on the prospect, and it sold promptly on the advance. British investors have been so discourged by the recent receiverships of our great railroads that time must elapse and those events be forgotten before London will become a considerable buyer either for investment or speculation. Here this is expected; and the effect of this loss of the usual London co-operation has been already discounted and has no further effect for the New York market."

Commission Row. The month opens with a fair trade for Saturday, especially on Commission row. On the wholesale streets the first day of the month business is usually a little quiet, but traveling salesmen say the outlook for a good September business is decidedly flattering. Stocks are low. Retail merchants have their back bills out of the way, and with fall-like weather it is believed trade will reach a very respectable volume. Prices the past week have taken on a steadier tone in staple groceries and articles which come into daily consump-tion in the way of eatables. For several days the poultry and egg markets have been steady and firm. Fruits and vegetables of the season seldom sell lower in the early fall than at the present time, and the quality of fruits and vegetables is much better than had been looked for. The seed market is rather quiet, owing to the dry weather for plowing, but prices are well held on most descriptions. The wool market is flat and it now looks as if

Springfield Union. Senator Brice got his start in life in rather interesting way. After he left college he studied law, but he didn't get on very well, and he went to Charlie Foster, then Governor of Ohio, and asked if something in the way of an office couldn't be found for him. "Impossible," said the Governor. "You are a Democrat and I am a Republican. It would cause no end of talk if I were to give you a place, with so many Republicans wanting offices." But Brice was in strait; and he begged so earnestly for some help by which he might extricate himself that Foster finally placed a sum of money in his hands and told him to come to New York and look after a certain financial transaction. His last injunction to the young man was to follow instructions. When he got here Brice made inquiries first and then acted directly contrary to what he had been told, telegraphing forthwith what he had done. Poster wired indignantly for the reason, The reply was: "Because I could make $40,000 for you." There was no questioning beyond that, and thenceforth Foster and Brice worked in harmony in various railroad operations, the latter giving up his idea of a legal career for the more lucra-

ESTIMATED THEY ARE CARRYING 150,000,000 OF LONG WHEAT.

All Grain Suffered Declines at Chicago Yesterday, While the Provision Market Advanced.

CHICAGO, Sept. 1 .- Board of Trade business was rather light to-day, and the bears had the advantage in the contemplation of a big array of figures as likely to represent the receipts of Tuesday morning. Another expected addition to the visible of wheat of about 1,000,000 bushels was also against the bulls. As a consequence, September wheat is 15c lower than it closed yesterday. Corn, after a lively rise in the beginning, tumbled until %c lower for September and %c lower for May. September oats closed %c lower and provisions finished at advances.

A general desire to anticipate the effect on Tuesday morning of the accumulations of the receipts during the Sunday and Monday holidays caused wheat to rule weak. It was steady for about an hour, but broke down when a sudden collapse in the price of September wheat reawoke the wheat traders to what had previously been in their mind about the expected big receipts on Tuesday. The receipts to-day were rather smaller than estimated for Chicago, and at Minneapolis and Duluth the reported receipts did not indicate any likelihood of the volume of farmers' deliveries in the Northwest increasing. The foreign markets were steady and the deliveries of wheat on September contracts, were all taken care of by the elevator proprietors. About 2,000,000 bushels was the quartity which was supposed to be tendered in the morning by few houses and, after going the rounds, it found its way back to the carriers who have it sold for December. Trade was light and the price was thus easily affected by a moderate amount of short selling. The bulls are lugging probably 150,000,-000 bushels of long wheat in this market and they need help when their burden is increased by the impact of the short sellers jumping on their shoulders. December opened at 56%c, or %c below its closing value on Friday. It advanced to 57%c, sold off to 561/2c, and closed at 56%c. corn on September contracts to-day, and consequently the shorts for the month were alarmed. The holder of the cash corn did nothing to allay their fears, but, on the contrary, J. C. Schwarts's recognized brok-ers were bidding for the limited offerings during the first hour of the session. September opened at 57c, as against 56%c at the close yesterday. It rose excitedly to 58%c, and, after reacting to 58c, close to which it held for a short time, it had a sensational tumble to 56%, and later to 56c, at which latter point it was when the market closed. The weakness came from expected heavy Monday receipts. May opened firm at about yesterday's closing price, and advanced under the influence of the strength in September until the former touched 54c. It declined from 54c to 52%c. and closed at 53c, or %c lower than on the previous afternoon. Receipts estimated for

Monday at 550 carloads, was a weakening factor. The oats market opened with a firmer tone and orders quite plentiful, but this strength lasted only a short time, for with the corn market weakened, oats followed and at the end of the session prices were considerably lower. The decline was also helped by liberal offerings and a rather tame demand. At the opening the decline commenced and 2914c was the lowest price reached. That price was bid at the close. Provisions were strong. There was very little disposition to sell short. The deliveries on September contracts were insignificant. Hog receipts for the day were 10,000, and the price quoted from the yards showed about 10c advance in their price, aiding in the advance. Pork sold at $14 for both September and January and closed worth $13.95 for both deliveries, being an improvement of from 121/2c in September to 71/2c in January. Lard closed with .10c gain in September and .05c in January. Ribs unchanged.

Eye to Pay the Ferryman.

New York Morning Advertiser. There is not a more interesting study han the superstitions of the human race. The persistence of certain venerable myths, and their reappearance in every age and among every people, is a subject about which whole books have been written. Friday evening there was a little inci-dent in the West Thirtieth-street police station which illustrated this admirably. A colored man who lives in one of the tenements west of the station house had died suddenly during the afternoon, pre-sumably of heart disease. As is generally done in cases of that sort, the body was removed to the police station to be viewed by the coroner, and it was laid out in the gallery leading to the cells. The dead man was a leading citizen in the Thirtieth-street negro colony, and, as one admiring friend put it, "There wasn't no better kals miner in New York dan what he was." All his friends and acquaint-ances, besides a great many people who had never known him but were morbidly curious to see the dead body lying there on the gallery, thronged into the station house and begged permission to "go out and look at de corpse." Fully one hundrad negro men, women and children must have filed out to the cells before the sergeant got tired of the monotonous requests and declined to let any more peoole see the body

One of the first men who entered the station house was a big coal-black negro, who had known the late kalsominer indi-mately. He looked sentimentally at the body of his dead friend, shaking his head mournfully the while, and then he produced a dime from the pocket of his overalls, which he placed carefully upon the closed left eye of the dead man. "What's that for?" asked a pollceman who steed by.

"Oh, dat's to carry him across de ribber ob Jordan, boss," replied the big negro. couldn't git across nonew had dat dime on he eyelids." And when the body was taken back again to the man's home the bearers were very careful not to disturb the bit of silver over the man's eye. To-day he will be buried, and when the coffin is lowered into the ground the last office his friends can perform will be to make sure that the dime is still in its place over the left eye. This negro superstition is precisely that of the ancient Greeks and Romans. Christianity has succeeded Paganism, and the river Jordan has succeeded the river Styx. But just as the old Romans used to put a penny on the eyes of their dead friends in order that the mythical ferryman Charon might have his fare for carrying the departed soul across the Styx, so the big negro in the police station covered the eye of his friend with a piece of silver "to pay for crossin' de Jordan." POINTS ON ADVERTISING. How It Is Done and How It Pays-Merchants Are Interested in This.

The customers attracted to the store of a merchant who keeps an ad running usually keep him running. The man who never reads the advertisements in the papers deosn't read the editorial or news matter, either.

The value of a display ad, like that of a suit of clothes-or a hen-depends a good deal on the set of it. Whether the advertisements of the future will be read more by design than by accident depends upon the men who write It has been noticed that the most persistent solicitor of advertising patronage is frequently the newspaper publisher who re-fuses to make a detailed statement of his circulation. If the "situation wanted" ads had as many interested readers as those in the "help wanted" columns, the number of men out of employment in all of the large cities would be considerably reduced. Advertisers who frequently change their mediums and methods should remember that a constant dropping will not wear away the stone to any appreciable extent when the drops fall on different parts of When an advertiser who seeks publicity for his goods through the medium of almanaes and pamphlets wants a little complimentary notice printed in regard to the same he does not apply to the publishers of other almanacs and pamphlets, but to the editor of a regular newspaper,

As the newspaper advertising of proprietary medicines is prohibited in Germany, any person in that country who happens to be afflicted with a dozen or more diseases is compelled to remain in total ignorance of the fact.
